2007 International Wine Challenge

At the 2007 International Wine Challenge 400 judges tasted 9,385 wines from 35 different countries. The wines endured a rigorous tasting regime with all wines tasted at least twice to ensure that a consistent method of judging was applied. The award winning wines were tasted four times over the two week judging period. This fastidious judging process is why the International Wine Challenge has gained world wide respect and recognition.
